"Listing Archaeological Sites on the National Register," will address the importance of considering all four National Register of Historic Places criteria when addressing Register eligibility for archaeological sites. Come learn tips for writing an effective analysis for archaeological sites, applying all four National Register criteria, using case studies, and successfully navigating the process for nominating a property to the Register. Learn what makes a good nomination versus one that "misses the mark," and how participants in the process can make their voices heard.

To register, please contact OHP archaeologist Anmarie Medin at (916) 445-7023 or anmarie.medin@parks.ca.gov.
